Father Wellein was ordained from St. Mary's Seminary and University, Baltimore, where he holds a degree in Sacred Theology. He has served Catholic Parishes in North Wilkesboro, Asheville and Jacksonville, in the latter assignment acting as an Auxiliary Chaplain at Camp Lejeune.

The work of the Mission Center at Wake Forest is to preach retreats and missions in the various Catholic churches, and during the summer months to conduct outdoor missions in rural areas using mobile units.

The Rev. Edward J. Beatty, pastor of St. Theresa Church, cordially invites the public to attend.

Train-Auto Crash Kills Glenn Lipe

Glenn Otis Lipe, 26-year-old resident of route 1, Troutman, was killed almost instantly at 7:55 a. m. Saturday morning when a southbound Southern freight train struck a 1950 Pord at the Ostwalt Baptist Church railway crossing at Ostwalt.

Lipe, who had been employed at the A. L. Shaver & Sons Chair Company at Barium Springs, was alone in the car at the time of the crash, which Marvin Raymer, Iredell County Coroner, ruled was accidental.

The impact of the crash knocked the car 115 feet, and the train traveled almost 700 yards after striking the motor vehicle.

W. P. Hooper, fireman on the freight involved in the accident, told the investigating officers that he saw the car approaching the tracks at approximately 40 miles per hour. He said that the car was approximately 125 feet east of the tracks, traveling west, when he first noticed it.

Engineer G. N. Denton did not see the car, since he was on the "offside," but felt the impact and stopped the train as soon as possible after the crash. The train, he said was traveling about 45 miles per hour at the time of the crash.

The victim's brother, Roy M. Lipe, was the first to reach the scene, his home being nearby. He said that his brother breathed "two or three times" after being removed from the wreckage.

A native of Barringer township, Mr. Lipe was a son of Annie B. Lipe of Troutman, route 1, and the late A. C. Lipe. He spent his entire life in Barringer township with the exception of two years he spent as a member of the armed forces.

Surviving, in addition to the mother, are: six brothers, David, Johnny, Brady, Leonard, Roy and Keever Lipe, all of Troutman, route 1, and four sisters, Mrs. Robert Bass, Mrs. Henry Poole, and Miss Ruby Lipe, all of Troutman, route 1, and Mrs. Frank McLain of Flint, Mich.

Funeral services were conducted at Wesley's Chapel Methodist Church Monday afternoon, and burial was in the family plot in the church cemetery.

CINEMASCOOP!

BY RUFE NEAS

JOHN WAYNE PREFERS OUT-OF-DOORS PICTURES . . . John Wayne, who's very much the out-of-doors man in real life, likes to play in pictures that take him out-of-doors on the screen as well.

Good film stories, according to Wayne, are always about people the audience cares about. This is a basic requirement for a successful motion picture, he emphasizes, but the treatment for the particular medium is the deciding factor.

"Get it out of doors," Wayne advises. "Let some fresh air and sunlight into the story. Give the cameraman a chance to photograph something besides walls and doors and tea tables. Don't let your story expire for lack of air."

That understanding has guided the shy, six-foot-four star in the selection of his film stories during most of his career, and especially since he's been at the top of the popularity ladder as one of America's biggest box-office attractions. It was one of the reasons why he considers his portrayal of Colonel Jim Shannon, the jet ace who becomes involved in his most unusual mission, in "Jet Pilot."

In the big Technicolor production Wayne shares starring honors with Janet Leigh and the U. S. Air Force. And with the action moving from Alaska to Palm Springs to Russia, he spends much of his time in the open. In fact, considerable action takes place in the "wild blue yonder," some at altitudes of 27,000 feet, as the drama revolves around the men who fly faster than sound.

"Jet Pilot" is basically a romantic drama, with strong overtones of comedy and sex," says Wayne. "But it has no hothouse flavor. The outdoor scenes are like the icing on the cake, the something special that neither television nor the stage can present so well."

Despite Wayne's love of the open spaces began in his childhood when, at the age of five, his father moved the family from Winterset, Iowa, to Lancaster, California, to homstead some land on the edge of the Mojave Desert, 80 miles from Hollywood.

"Duke", as he was called then, just as he is by his close friends today, started riding a horse to school at the age when most boys were learning to ride a bicycle. He learned to swim in an irrigation ditch and worked during summer vacations picking apricots and doing such ranch chores as taking care of the livestock.

In high school, his already long, lithe physique made him an outstanding athlete, particularly in football. By then he'd abandoned his yen to become a lawyer and had instead a burning ambition to attend Annapolis naval academy. He still lists as his "greatest disappointment" the fact that in a competitive test for admission to Annapolis he was beaten by one other young hopeful.

"I think that my account for the fact that I particularly like to play seamen, or military men such as Colonel Shannon of the Air Force, in 'Jet Pilot,'" says Wayne.

Easy-going and quietly jovial, the star is not unlike many of the characters he has portrayed. His favorite outdoor pastimes, in addition to riding, are hunting and fishing. He's well-read and outspoken in discussing national or international affairs. He has a secret yen to be a director, hopes sometime to try it.

Wayne, who tips the scales at 200 pounds year in and year out, is disconcerted by one thing: feminine writers who refer to his "little-boy charm."

"That really throws me," admits he-man Wayne.

PERSONAL PIFFLE—The newspaper reports that Dorothy would appear in the Christmas parade at Lincolnton were premature. As we stated here several weeks ago, her only parade appearance will be on the Charlotte Observer float in the Carrousel.

This comes on Thanksgiving Day, when she has no classes at Wingate. The Lincolnton parade, scheduled for Tuesday, November 26, falls on a day when she has five classes. For that reason, and upon the recommendation of Wingate officials, we did not insist that she appear in our Mooresville parade. Had she appeared in a parade anywhere that day, it would certainly have been in Mooresville. We say this because, under the legal setup in force, only we have the authority to give permission for her absence from the Wingate campus for any reason whatsoever.

Kays Gary, Marie and I adopted a policy from the beginning that nothing this side of heaven was to interfere with her education or distract her from her pursuit of it. We have stuck to that policy, come hell or high water, and we plan to continue to do so.

She is carrying a double load at Wingate, trying to take four years of high school work in two years. She is aided in this schedule by two private tutors, and in her five subjects, has a straight "A" average as of this writing. She has also found time to participate in several college activities. She sings in the choir of the Baptist Church there, is one of the better voices in a 52-voice college glee club, is learning to play tennis, and will go out for the girls' basketball team.

If you happen to be reading these lines Wednesday afternoon or evening, it will be at a time when Dorothy is winging her way toward Detroit. She will miss classes Thursday and Friday. College officials have arranged for her to make up the two days on successive Saturdays.

This trip to Detroit could mean a great deal to Wingate College, an institution that helps hundreds of boys and girls each year who could get an education no other way. The main purpose of the trip was to get Wingate officials an audience with the Ford Foundation. This meeting has already been set up out there, set up under the very best of auspices and sponsorship, and Wingate may get thousands of dollars each year as a result of the trip.

Dorothy was thrilled about the trip, and the thing that seemed to thrill her most was that she was to be taken on a personally conducted tour of the huge Ford Willow Run plant.

We understand that the Knight group of newspapers, including their Charlotte Observer, will carry coverage on the event, with pictures probably being air-freighted back to the Observer. If not, certainly by telephoto. We hear that the huge banquet out there will be on a two-state television hookup. Dorothy is scheduled to make a two-minute talk at the banquet. Kays and I warned her that if she does, that you'll have to go fur back to do it.

And I see in the paper Sunday where some feller has just published a book explaining how the world will come to a end in 1963. Well that could, after all, solve a heap of problems.

This labor union feller, Jimmy Hoffa, must have been mighty happy to see where President Eisenhower has formed a rockets committee. Hoffa probably figgers it will black out the rackets committee.

I got a good laugh out of this farmer who said he was gitting more milk from his cows than ever before. He said he went out to the barn and had a good heart to heart talk with them. Said he told them about the high price farmers was gitting now fer beef.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Autumn Is Simple . . . 'Til You Look Around

Autumn, to the encyclopedia writer, is a simple thing.

Volume II, page 670, of the Encyclopedia Americana describes it as "the season of the year which follows summer and precedes winter."

Yes, to the encyclopedia writer, autumn is a simple thing.

But, to the average resident of Mooresville and vicinity, autumn is not simple enough to be recorded on the printed page, not quite simple enough even to be caught in the eye of the camera.

On North Main street, autumn is store fronts decorated gaily with bright fall clothes for women . . . a small boy pressing his nose against the glass and looking wistfully at a new football . . . a poster announcing prematurely that Santa Claus is coming.

In the Woodmoor residential development, autumn is giant trees whose leaves vie with the summer rainbow in their coloring . . . it is an old colored man raking those leaves, or another small boy wondering why it gets dark so early.

On the high school campus, autumn is a football team practicing for Friday night's game . . . it is a pretty young thing trying to decide whether the weather is right for a summer skirt or her new one for fall.

To the farmer, autumn is the harvest, the smell of burning leaves . . . it is the rifle on the wall and the dog in the lot, both ready and waiting for the year's first hunt.

Yes, throughout the town, all over the countryside, autumn is all of these things — the last picnic, the first frost.

Yes, it is all these things to everyone, perhaps even to the encyclopedia writer.

Mooresville Hi School Holds 'College Day'

Representatives from 34 colleges and schools visited Mooresville High School October 17 to participate in the annual College Day Program. As the visitors arrived, they were greeted by members of the Student Council who also directed them to the library. There the representatives picked up their name badges and met the high school students who acted as group leaders for the discussion groups.

Following the first session, the representatives and the high school faculty were served refreshments in the Home Economics Laboratory. The students were free at that time to get a coke at the student store.

At 2:35 p. m., the second discussion group began and lasted until 3:10 when the students returned to their home rooms for final roll call and dismissal at 3:15. A number of students returned to the library after school for further conferences with representatives of the schools in which they were particularly interested.

The representatives bring to the school the latest information and publications of their institutions. In addition they answer any questions the students have about college life in general-or a

Southside Baptist Plans Parking Lot

The Southside Baptist Church this week announced the purchase of a lot behind the church which will be converted into a parking lot, it was announced today.

The property was formerly owned by Jess Cook and a house and store now stand on the lot which is approximately 75 feet by 150 feet.

Plans call for the house and store to be dismantled and moved within the next few weeks.

Rev. P. T. Brock, pastor of the church, said the church hopes to begin work on the parking lot by the first of the year.

Later, the lot will be used for a new educational building or sanctuary, he said.

Uncle Dan From Doolie Says

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see where a famous doctor says folks ought to git up and walk around about onct ever hour when they're watching television. I think television takes care of itself on that score, or even better. A feller has to git up about onct ever 15 minutes to tune something out.

When Eleanor Roosevelt got back from Russia she reported that she never saw the people laughing over there. No wonder they is so anxious to move to the moon.

We was talking up at the country store Saturday night about old times and the good old days. One feller said he could remember further back than anybody. He said he could recall when cafes cut the pie into only four pieces and when folks wore a nightcap instead of drinking one.

Maybe some of you all can beat that, but I'll stick with my memory.

C-C Directors Set Date For Annual Dinner

Directors of the Mooresville Chamber of Commerce, meeting in regular monthly session Thursday at 12 o'clock noon, set the date for the organization's annual banquet meeting.

The date chosen was Monday evening, January 13, and President John Amburn appointed a committee to secure the speaker and make all arrangements for the meeting. Members of the committee include: Dr. L. B. Skeen, Oni Houston, and Dr. Roland Morgan.

In studying the Chamber's financial statement, the directors learned that as of October 10, the organization had a bank balance of

Boys' Choir Registration Opens Monday

Registration for this season's Boys' Choir, sponsored by the 12:01 Optimist Club of Mooresville, will open Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the auditorium of South School, Club President Robert Dabbs said today.

All boys between the ages of eight and 15 years are invited to join the choir this season.

This choir is a part of the boys' work program sponsored by the Optimist Club. During the summer, the club sponsors the Mooresville Little League baseball teams.

Because of the popularity of the choir and the interest shown by the boys and their parents, Dr. Roland Morgan, superintendent of city schools, and Miss Mary Greenlee, principal of Soloth School, have made the auditorium of the school available for all rehearsals this season.

Hugh Sloop, who directed the choir last season, has volunteered his services again this year, Dabbs said, and will be on hand Monday afternoon to help with the registration. Mrs. Ed Robertson will be accompanist for the choir.

Rehearsals will be held every Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock

Illness Takes 250 Students Out Of School

Flu, colds and illness generally hit the local white schools this week with approximately 250 students, about 10 per cent of the total school population, being stricken, Superintendent Dr. Roland Morgan reported Tuesday.

There were 87 reported absences at Central High School Tuesday, 86 out at Dunbar, 32 absent at Park View and Junior High School, and 13 from South School, Dr. Morgan said.

Dunbar was closed down for a day and a half last week when 140 cases of flu were reported there. The school resumed classes on Monday of this week.

Dr. Morgan said there are no immediate plans for closing any of the other schools unless there is a great increase in the number of cases of illness.

There has been some discussion as to whether the football game between the Blue Devils of Mooresville and Winecoff High School would be played this Friday night.

Coach Andy Miller said Tuesday that 17 of his first 22 players have been on the sick list this week. A decision on whether the contest will be played was expected to be reached sometime today.

United Drive Extended By Local Officials

Mooresville and south Iredell's United Fund campaign, scheduled to have come to a close Tuesday, has been extended for another week, according to announcement made by Ralph Millsaps, Jr., drive chairman.

The drive opened Monday, October 14, and since that time volunteer canvassers have been "in the field," in the business section as well as the residential areas of Mooresville and south Iredell.

The goal this year is $23,468.10, and drive officials are confident that the goal will be realized.

Agencies which will be the recipients of this total budget, on a "fair-share" basis, are:

Christian Missions, $2,000; Boy Scouts., $2,600; Recreation Commission, $2,500; Mooresville Library, $1,000; United Service Organizations, $426; Children's Home Society, $407.49; Florence Crittenden Home, $180.72; Aid To Travelers, $8.81; Medical Research, $255.60; United Community Services, $249.73; American Red Cross, $5,046; Girl Scouts, $2,250; Crippled Children, $150; Mooresville Volunteer Fire Department, $1,200; Emergency Fund, $4,000; North Carolina Association Mental Health, $193.75; Local Cancer Society, $400; and Operating Expenses, $600.

"We are doubly anxious to hear from all workers," Mr. Millsaps said, "for certainly we want to exceed our goal."

If you have not made your contribution or pledge, you are requested to do so at once.

Driver Escapes Injury As Car Strikes Tree

Charged with driving drunk, a 24-year-old Mooresville man is scheduled to be tried in the Mooresville Recorder's Court next Monday afternoon, as the aftermath of an automobile wreck near here early Saturday morning.

State Highway Patrolman J. F. Davis said Donald Light, resident of Cook street, miraculously escaped injury when he lost control of his car and wrapped it around a tree in the yard of George P. Morrison.

The officer said Light was driving the car on Highway 150, four miles west of town, when it went out of control on a curve. The car traveled across the Morrison yard and struck a tree on the right side.

The car, a 1957 model, was completely demolished.

Lions Prepare For Annual Broom Sale

The annual broom sale by the Mooresville and Shepherd Lions Clubs will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 24-26, officials of the two clubs have announced.

In addition to the brooms, the Lions will offer for sale rubber door mats and ironing board covers.

These brooms and mats were manufactured by blind workers in Greensboro as a product of the Guilford Industries For The Blind.

"Your purchases help make this a self-supporting industry that enables visually handicapped persons to maintain their independence and pride," spokesmen for the two local area Lions Clubs pointed out.

Two types of brooms will be offered for sale, the industrial type which sells for $2.00 and the regular weight which sells for $1.50. The rubber door mats are $2.50 each, while the ironing board covers sell for $2.00.

New Federal Four-Lane Highway May Yet Pass Near City's Edge

Raleigh Source Says No Route Yet Announced

The last link in the new 431-mile Federal four-lane highway from Canton, Ohio, to Charlotte will probably be the new highway 21 from Statesville to Charlotte.

This prediction was made Wednesday morning by Raleigh sources, as well as J. F. Scarborough, former highway commissioner from this division.

News stories last Saturday chatted this new highway from Canton into this state west of Mt. Airy, then west of Winston-Salem, and into a large intersection on the trunk highway carrying U. S. Routes 29, 70, and 52 between Salisbury and Lexington.

Tuesday morning newspapers carried a statement from Senator Kerr Scott that the highway would bend to touch Winston-Salem and would continue on to Charlotte on U. S. 29.

The Tribune learned in a telephone conversation with Raleigh this morning that the state highway department knows only that the 431-mile Federal section will come to Charlotte, knows nothing of the proposed route. We were told that the Federal Bureau of Roads had not yet asked the state highway folks for their recommendation as to the exact route, and that such routes were submitted until such recommendations had been received.

It was also pointed out by our Raleigh source that we asked not to be quoted directly—that there would be strong objection at state level to emptying this new four-lane Federal route into U. S. 29 for its final approach to Charlotte.

This prediction was made Wednesday morning by Raleigh source.

Garvin Succeeds Spencer As Cascade Plant Manager

Changes in management at Cascade Weaving Company have been announced by officials of Burlington Industries.

W. H. Spencer, Jr., who has been at Cascade since 1951, has resigned. He has been succeeded by Noel E. Garvin, formerly assistant division manager of Burlington's Burlington Mills at Shannon, Ga.

Mr. Garvin arrived in Mooresville this week to begin his duties as plant manager at Cascade, where he served as assistant superintendent for a period in 1952.

The new plant manager announced that Woodrow Tew, who has been with the Burlington organization since 1935, has been transferred to Cascade as general overseer of the preparatory department.

Mr. Tew, a native of Haw River, has been in the Greensboro offices since 1947 in development and technical assignments. He was earlier in various supervisory positions at Company plants in Burlington.

Mr. Garvin, a native of Pickens, S. C., joined Burlington in 1947 at the Newton plant. He has held supervisory positions at a number of plants, and served as superintendent at Newton and assistant to the Cramerton division manager before going to Brighton Mills in 1955. At Brighton, he was superintendent of weaving operations until becoming assistant division

How to be a Better Cook ...and save money too! BY Mary Blake

Halloween Nut Drops

(Makes 40—2" cookies)

½ cup butter or shortening
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup sifted (firmly packed) brown sugar
1 egg
1½ cups sifted all purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons double-acting type baking powder
½ cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
½ cup chopped nuts

Blend shortening, orange rind, vanilla, sugar and egg until light and fluffy. Add dry ingredients alternately with Carnation. Blend until smooth; then fold in nuts. Drop dough from teaspoon or buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) about 15 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet and cool on rack. Ice.

CHOCOLATE ICING: Melt 1 cup (6-ounce package) semi-sweet chocolate bits with ¼ cup butter; allow to cool slightly. Alternately add 1¼ cups sifted confectioners sugar and ½ cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk or chocolate. Beat briskly until creamy. Spread on cooled cookies.

Fashion Show Highlights Annual Garden Club District 3 Meeting In Statesville

District 3, Garden Club of North Carolina, held their annual meeting in Statesville Friday, October 18. Mrs. D. R. Mauney, of Cherryville, was named director of District 3.

Mrs. W. G. Shoemaker of Charlotte presided at the meeting which opened at 10:30 a. m. at the First Baptist Church. Some 170 women from Charlotte, Gastonia, Kings Mountain, Cherryville, Dallas, Troutman, Shelby, Harmony, and the hostess cities, Statesville, Mooresville and Lincolnton, were present.

Committees were named and reports of club presidents and council presidents were heard after which Miss Louise Ballard, state president, showed slides of the Elizabethian garden, project of the state garden clubs at Manteo.

The women adjourned to the Country Club for luncheon after which Miss Ballard spoke on the many projects and plans of state chairmen for the coming year.

Hospitality committees were recognized by Mrs. D. H. McHargue, Statesville, who served as over-all chairman of the event. Mrs. K. K. Millholland announced the winners in the yearbook contest. House and Garden of Kings Mountain, won first in the printed yearbook division. Garden Gate of Charlotte, second and honorable mention, Brookdale Club of Statesville. In the handmade division, The Open Gate Garden Club, Kings Mountain took first prize; second prize went to the Beverly-Sherwood Garden Club, Charlotte and honorable mention, The Hoe and Hope Garden Club of Dallas. Cash awards were presented by Mrs. Shoemaker.

The group was invited by the Charlotte clubs to meet in their city next fall.

Models from the hostess cities gave a fashion show showing the use of fresh flowers in ornamenting their costumes. Mrs. John Mullen of Lincolnton served as commentator.

The luncheon tables were centered with handsome arrangements of fall flowers in white and pink. Favors were litterbags, litterbug stickers, and a litterbug fashioned from a peanut.

Ostwalt Home Demonstration Club Meets

Mrs. H. C. Howard was hostess to nineteen members of the Ostwalt Home Demonstration Club at her home in Troutman on Friday, October 18.

The, vice-president, Mrs. D. F. Simpson, presided in the absence of the president. She introduced the manager of the Statesville Chamber of Commerce, R. D. Warwick, who spoke to the club about the United Fund Drive program.

Mrs. Simpson gave the devotions.

Minutes were read by Mrs. S. O. Whitner, after which Mrs. J. C. Murdock gave the treasury report.

There were three new officers elected for the coming year. They are as follows: Mrs. Wertz Lentz, president Mrs. L. T. Queen, vice-president ;and Mrs. J. D. Campbell, treasurer.

Mrs. W. B. Cansler and Mrs. L. T. Queen gave the demonstration entitled, "Let's Make Housekeeping Easier." Mrs. Howard made biscuits in six minutes, making only fifteen steps. This proved that her kitchen is arranged for easier housekeeping.

The hostesses, Mrs. John Shinn, Mrs. E. A. Suther, and Mrs. J. H. Westmoreland served sandwiches, cookies, potato chips, and coffee.

Those helping Allen to celebrate his birthday were: Jerry Follette, Ellen Gaffney, Jimmy Cashion, Carol Kennedy, Bobby Cashion, Ricky, and Patsy Perry, David Carson, Michael Rummage, Rose and Linda Grant, Bill and Annette Keeter.

The honoree received many nice birthday gifts.

16 Students Compete For Scholarships

Sixteen students, all members of the senior class at the Mooresville High School, entered a national competition this week for merit scholarships offered through, the nation's high schools.

The students are: Jerry Setzer, LeDhu Gillespie, Allen Neill, Homer Brawley, Linda Brantley, Stephen Sherrill, Milton Mills, Kent Honeycutt, Jean Berry, Sara Kipka, Phyllis Hobbs, Gary Hooper, Julianna Moss, Brenda Poston, Doris Brown, and Bill Harris.

The examinations here were held Tuesday, beginning at 9 a. m. The results of the examinations will not be known until around the first of the year.

More than 300,000 students in 14,000 high schools in the nation will be taking these qualifying tests this year. This is described as the first hurdle in the 1958 National Merit Scholarship Program. More than $4 million in Merit Scholarships, including those granted by some 70 business and industrial companies, will be at stake.

Tuesday's test was a high level college aptitude-type examination, designed to measure the difference among students of high verbal and quantitative ability, and to predict their chances of success in college.

The nationwide competition is conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation of Evanston, Ill., on behalf of companies, foundations, professional societies, and even individuals who sponsor the awards.

Injured Child Has Advice For Friends

"Tell all little boys and girls to stay away from outdoor trash fires."

This is the advice of Little Miss Gail Lowery, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lowery of Mooresville, route 3.

Gail is a patient at the Charlotte Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Hospital as the result of playing in an outdoor trash fire at her home on the night of October 10.

A tiny piece of burning trash popped in the little girl's right eye and, after treatment by a local physician that night, she was removed to the Charlotte hospital the following morning.

She is getting along nicely, but may still have to undergo an operation before returning home.

Mrs. Moffat Honored At Bridge Party

Honoring Mrs. Charles Moffat, who will be leaving soon to make her home in Greensboro, Mrs. Henry Sink entertained at her home on North Magnolia street on Wednesday evening, October 16.

The Sink home was very lovely throughout with lovely arrangements of chrysanthemums and also a very attractive dried arrangement.

The hostess served delicious harvest pie with coffee to the following guests: Mrs. Charles Moffat, Mrs. Max Nanney, Mrs. Joel Phillips, Miss Berta Fuqua, Mrs. Van Gibson, Mrs. Tex Millard, Mrs. Carl VonCanon, and Mrs. Vernon Smith.

Two tables of bridge progressed during the evening with Mrs. Phillips winning high score and Mrs. Millard was low score winner. Bingo was called by Miss Fuqua.

The hostess presented a gift to Mrs. Moffat.

Hilda Lyles Celebrates 4th Birthday

Miss Hilda Lyles was honored at a birthday party given by her mother on Saturday, October 19, from 3:30 until 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon at her home on route 2, Mooresville. Hilda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Lyles and she was celebrating her fourth birthday.

During the afternoon, games were enjoyed and refreshments, consisting of birthday cake, ice cream, candy, and Coca Colas were served.

The guests received balloons as favors.

There were approximately twenty-five guests helping Hilda to celebrate her birthday.

She received many nice birthday gifts.

Mt. Mourne Home Club Has Meeting

The Mount Mourne Home Demonstration Club held its October meeting in the home of Mrs. B. S. Templeton, with Mrs. W. L. Gabriel and Mrs. Moore Templeton as co-hostesses.

The president, Miss Plato Kelly, presided during the meeting. The meeting opened with the club collect in unison. Mrs. Clyde Sherrill gave the devotion, using Psalm 100.

In the absence of the secretary, Miss Kelly read the minutes. Eight members answered the roll call.

During the business session, an invitation was presented to the club, asking them to serve the Lions Club a dinner. No action was taken in this matter.

The demonstration, "Let's Make Housekeeping Easier", was given by Mrs. Gabriel and Mrs. Templeton did the work. After many helpful suggestions on planning and arranging, the group was invited into the kitchen, where Mrs. Templeton chose biscuit making for her demonstration. She was timed for speed, checked for number of steps, stoops, and reaching. Because of her splendid arrangement, the work was done with a minimum of steps and the biscuits were ready to be baked in five minutes.

As the women sat in the kitchen, exchanging recipes, the hostess served delicious cookies, potato chips, and lemonade.

The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Clyde Sherrill in November.

Highway

es, as well as J. F. Scarborough, former highway commissioner from this division.

The objection, we were told, would be based upon the fact that U. S. 29 is already carrying almost a peak capacity load. It would be the most undesirable trunk line into which such traffic could be emptied, we were told.

Former commissioner Scarborough told the Tribune that the use of U. S. 21 would save hundreds of thousands of dollars in construction work over any other route into Charlotte. "The new 21 was built," he said, "with the idea of turning it easily into a four-lane road. Traffic on this link from Statesville and around Mooresville's rim" is comparatively light," he said, "and it would be the ideal and practical approach into Charlotte."

Mr. Scarborough left last night for New York, stated he had obtained permission from the state highway folks to stop in Washington and discuss the matter with the Federal Bureau of Roads. "When I show them the maps," said Mr. Scarborough, "and point out the tremendous savings, I don't see how they can route it any other way than around Mooresville and Statesville."

It was also pointed out to the Tribune by the Raleigh source that the "431 mile" figure mentioned in the Federal news release could not possibly allow for the Winston-Salem bend. "This would come closer to 475 miles," said the source.

Statesville and Mooresville citizens are very much interested in having U. S. 21 used as the final link in this Federal highway. It would not only bring tourist and traveling business into this area, but the highway itself would be a selling point in seeking new industries in the area, especially industries using heavy truck facilities.

made any grammatical errors in it, we would bop her a few times when she got home.

Marie and I had dinner Sunday evening with Dr. and Mrs. Budd Smith at Wingate. We mention it because two other guests at this dinner were the man and wife who are financing Dorothy's program for the next few years. It was their first trip to Wingate.

While Marie and Dorothy had met them before, it was my first personal contact with them. I had pictured them for a long time as simply a very wealthy couple with no children of their own, and who got a sort of vicarious or substitute pleasure from helping the children of other parents.

Quite to the contrary, they have children and grandchildren of their own. They are simply among those rare few of God's people who want the world to share in their money and good fortune. We learned Sunday night—and not from them—that at one time they had six boys in Girls like Dorothy in school or college.

They have been wonderful to Dorothy, plan to go all the way with her Dramatic school or modeling school in New York, university degree, or whatnot, the sky is the limit, so long as she does creditably well at whatever course she chooses. They are thrilled with her attitude and accomplishments thus far at Wingate.

Just to give you a concrete idea of how this couple operates with Dorothy, we'll cite a few details. In addition to all her college expenses and two private tutors, she has a charge account at Belk's, Ivey's, Efird's, and the Tall Shop in Charlotte, at the Smart Shop and Belk's in Monroe. The latter two accounts were set up because Monroe is only three miles from Wingate and there might be times when she could get to Monroe but not to Charlotte for needed items. She has her own modest bank account and check book for her necessary spending money. They were told her before—and told her again Sunday night—that any time she wants to come to Charlotte, or has need to go some place, to call and they will send a car and driver for her. And for this Detroit trip they dolled her up something out of this world!

It is no wonder that Dorothy is so appreciative, and that she is digging in and trying so hard to make good. And it is no wonder that I have no intention of directing her course in any manner which I think might displease them. They are a very wonderful couple, and they seem genuinely fond of Dorothy. Sunday evening they set a couple tentative dates for her to come and spend the week-end with them. The man, who has the reputation of being a good golfer, was kidding Dorothy, told her he'd take her out to the Country Club and teach her how to beat par.

Well, I seem to be writing a good bit about Dorothy, but I promise this is the last time we'll mention her name for a long time. She is, however, so easy to write about. Marie and I have become very attached to her since she has moved into our home. She is unaffected, has been very humble and appreciative throughout all her good luck, is a barrel of fun, has her feet firmly on the ground, and a head on her shoulders that knows how to point those feet in the right direction.

EDITORIAL POLICY—The reaction of a newspaper to any given issue will depend on the factors involved in said issue, and the interpretation the publisher puts on them.

Such reactions, because they vary from issue to issue, can hardly be called the paper's "editorial policy."

However, there are certain general editorial policies followed by most newspapers.

This brings us down to an unsigned letter, written with pencil in a man's hand, received by us Saturday.

He wants to know why the Tribune doesn't publish the victims of the local Recorder's Court.

We have answered that question several times in the past, will do it once again.

In the first place, maybe I don't qualify to be a newspaper reporter in the urban sense of the word. I'm soft hearted about many things, and one of them is advertising the other fellow's troubles. Maybe it's because I've had so many of my own.

I go only half way with these newspapers that insist the people have a right to know everything under the sun. The half I don't go along with is the half where the newspaper frequently prints only the first half of the story.

Recently an elderly man was caught shoplifting here, was charged with petty larceny. An examination by physicians proved that old age, senility had overcome the man. His mind was gone. He is now in an institution. He has a nice family, fine children and grandchildren. The truth of the story was two weeks in the unraveling. The standard practice of most newspapers is to prominently chronicle the fact that so-and-so has been charged with larceny. It is seldom if ever such papers bother to explain two weeks later. Even if they did, the damage has been done.

A Mooresville man was arrested here recently and charged with poisoning dogs. Nobody thought he was guilty. I didn't think so. The officers had no creditable proof against him. They continued the case a couple times, then let it drop. We didn't print the fact that he was ever arrested, are glad we didn't.

An employee of one of the textile plants here takes on a few drinks too many Saturday night, gets locked up for being drunk. We publish the item and the publicity embarrasses his boss and he has to let the man go. That is the policy of at least two textile plants here. His wife and children suffer. What has the newspaper gained?

The other week, Judge Pope was forced, under the statutes, to fine a guy for cuffing his wife around a bit. But I happen to know about his wife. She ought to be cuffed around every day.

I just can't get too worked up over the news importance of such items. We make it a practice to publish the account of the heinous crimes, the felonies, tried in the local court. Most of the other cases here, from a news standpoint, are petty nothings. We past 'em up. At the same time, we concede to other editors their right to interpret otherwise their duty in the matter.

Again, maybe I'm in the wrong racket. But I just don't get any personal or professional pleasure out of advertising the other fellow's troubles.

I was arguing this point not long ago with a Charlotte reporter. "But," he says, "it sells newspapers."

I believe we can sell the Tribune without it.

Speaking of editorial policies, I have been impressed during the past two years with the effect a newspaper can have locally on the segregation issue. What impressed me was the fact that two of the smaller towns in North Carolina having a great deal of racial unrest, incidents, and even a near riot in one case, have been towns whose only newspaper seemed to follow a policy of stirring up the people on the subject. These two newspapers come over our desk on the exchange list, and they are constantly fomenting the issue.

Here in our community we have had excellent racial relations, and we have followed the policy of letting sleeping dogs lie. Our editorial comments when on the local level, have been calm and designed to encourage calmness among our readers.

We would like to believe that such a policy has benefitted our community.

Four Officers Added To Local Guard Battery

Four new officers have been assigned to the local National Guard unit.

The new officers are Lt. Walter A. Cooper, Jr., who comes here from the 452nd Military Government unit in Charlotte; Lt. Paul R. Morrow who comes here from active duty with the 31st Infantry Regiment in Korea; Lt. Charles Atwell, who came on active duty from the inactive reserve; and Lt. John Calloway of Albemarle who was transferred here from the 112th Field Artillery in Lenoir.

The addition of these four officers brings to six the number assigned to the local unit.

manager there in 1956.

During World War II Mr. Garvin won the Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal while serving in the Air Force. He is a graduate of Clemson College, and is married to the former Sarah Horton of Belton, S. C. The Garvins have three children, and the family expects to establish residence in Mooresville in the immediate future.

Mr. Spencer, in making known his resignation, said that he had plans for the future which he would announce at a later date. He joined Burlington in 1950, becoming Cascade superintendent in 1952.

Mr. Garvin, a Presbyterian, has been a member of the Rome, Ga., Kiwanis Club, and active in Boy Scout, PTA, and civic affairs in the Rome and Shannon area.

$809.75, which, according to Mr. Amburn, is "pretty good" for this time of the year.

Plans for the Chamber-sponsored Business-Industry-Education Day are moving forward, the directors were informed. As of last Thursday, 95 business and industrial people had notified the Chamber of their intentions of participating in the event. Present plans call for the business and industrial personnel of Mooresville to visit the city schools one day, with the teachers and other school personnel visiting the local business and industrial plants on the following day.

The directors voted to sponsor Miss Brenda Harris as Mooresville's princess in the Charlotte Carrousal on Thanksgiving Day. Miss Harris will compete with other beauties from North and South Carolina for the coveted title, "Queen Carrousal."

Attending the directors' meeting last Thursday were: John Amburn, W. J. Haselden, Dr. Roland Morgan, Hugh B. Overly, H. N. Johnston, Jr., J. Mack Morrow, Charlie Brown, Oni Houston, Dr. L. B. Skeen, Robert J. Holshouser, Stiles Dixon, Paul Troutman, Bill Gibson, Bill Noel, and Mrs. Joe Crooks.

GROWING CHURCH—The Community Tabernacle, located two miles south of town, just west of the Charlotte Highway, is growing by leaps and bounds, according to the pastor, the Rev. Grady Lening, who organized the church on March 10. Pictured here are those who attended services on a recent Sunday morning.

Triplett Church Holding Special Services This Week

Triplett Methodist Church in the Mazeppa community is holding a series of special services this week, it was announced today.

Rev. H. M. Robinson, former pastor of Central Methodist Church here, now serving the First Methodist Church in Salisbury, is doing the preaching.

Services begin each evening at 7:30 and will continue through Friday. On Friday night, the men of the church will participate in the service.

The public is invited to attend.

Rock Springs Lions Plan Variety Show

The Rock Springs Lions Club will stage an all-star variety show in the Rock Springs school auditorium on Saturday night, Shaw Brown, master of ceremonies, said today.

Among the stars of the show will be the North State Quartette of Lexington; Dennis Gryder, buck dancer of Cornelius; Warren Sherrill, song and dance man of Davidson; the Rythmmasters of Lincolnton; Lincolnaires' Quartette; Nita Bell, tap dancer of Lincolnton; Barbara Stamey, impersonator of Lincolnton; Rocky Sailors string band of Lincolnton; Linda Starr, pianist of Lincolnton; the Sigmon Quartette of Sherrill's Ford; and the Teen Tones Trio of Mooresville.

Thirty-eight door prizes will be given away during the show and $50 in cash prizes will be awarded winners.

St. Theresa's Altar Guild Plans Supper

The newly elected president of St. Theresa Catholic Church's Altar Guild, Dolores Brown, announces plans for the second annual Guild spaghetti benefit supper.

The supper will be held on October 29 at the VFW Hut on the Mount Ulla Highway, beginning at 6 p. m. The plates will be $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children. Mrs. Alice Mack is chairman of the food committee.

In addition to the president, other Guild officers are: Mrs. Ruby Ikall, vice-president; and Mrs. Dottie Mack, secretary-treasurer.

STUDENT OF MONTH—Homer Brawley, son of Mrs. Homer O. Brawley of route 2, and a senior in Central High School here, has been chosen Student of the Month by a board of judges in the school. Brawley is president of the Key Club, a member of the student council, treasurer of the student council his sophomore year, a three-year man on the baseball and basketball teams and a halfback on the football team. He is also vice president of the senior class.

Harry A. Moore Wins First Prize

Harry A. Moore of route 2 copped first prize of $7.50 in the seventh weekly football contest sponsored by 12 Mooresville merchants and the Tribune.

Moore picked 10 winners in the 12 contests and handed in his selections at 3:15 p. m. Thursday to take first place in the contest.

Second prize of $5 went to Charles D. Berg also of route 2. Berg also picked 10 winners and his selections were handed in by 4 p. m. Thursday.

Third place winner was Ray Hayes of 321 West McNeely avenue. It was Hayes' second week in a row to take third in the contest.

The games that crossed up the prognosticators last week were the 100 ties between N. C. State and Miami and Kannapolis-Landis.

There were also a few who stumbled over the Maryland-North Carolina game.

MOHISCO
(MOORESVILLE HIGH SCHOOL)
BY LEDHU GILLESPIE

Friday will be an extra special day at MHS! This day has been set aside as one to strengthen school spirit, to honor the football team, and to give every student an opportunity to feel his part in Mooresville High School by wearing the school colors, BLUE AND WHITE.

A very different kind of Pep Rally will be the assembly feature—one that you'll surely enjoy.

The Blue Devils will be well on their way toward crushing the Wineoff team by the halftime when a Homecoming Queen will be crowned. There'll be a new face on the field, none other than ?, and surprises and treats galore will be in store for you at this game and at the T.A.C., where a Homecoming Dance will be held. The Blue Devils are going to win this week, so be on hand at this game of all games when we show Wineoff who's best!

Two very hilarious pantomine skits were presented in assembly last Friday by Mrs. Peiffer's dramatics class. Sound effects, produced by heaven only knows what or. whom, really added flavor to the antics of Linda Caldwell, Linda Hastings, Lannie Smith, and Jimmy Hunsucker in "The Lamp Went Out."

"Wild Nell, Pet of the Prairie" was portrayed by Gail Swainey. Nell didn't get her man, but she and her co-stars, David Matthews, Nancy Honeycutt, Bill Bolmer, and Janice Sherrill, did get a lot of laughs. Carolyn Hucks and Faye Howard were the witty narrators for these highly entertaining skits.

College Day at MHS took place Thursday, October 17, with representatives coming from institutions of higher education all over North Carolina to explain the set-up of their schools. There were representatives from Business Colleges, as well as from liberal arts colleges, universities, technical schools, and all branches of the armed services. Each student attended two discussion groups and learned the many aspects of college life.

Julianna Moss will be Franny Brantley's campaign manager as he runs for State Student Council Congress President. Other M.H.S. delegates who will be attending this convention in Hickory on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday are:

Concord Presbytery Holds Fall Session

Concord Presbytery, embracing approximately 75 Presbyterian Churches in this section of North Carolina, met Tuesday at 9 a. m. at the New Salem Presbyterian Church near Stony Point.

Fred A. Long, ruling elder of the First Presbyterian Church in Lenoir, was moderator of the meeting.

The Rev. Neill R. McGeachy of Statesville reported for the commission on "The Minister And His Work" in regard to pastoral changes and relationships.

Annual reports by committee chairmen were made by the Rev. S. C. Farrior of Concord on World Missions, the Rev. S. W. Newell of Davidson on Christian Education, the Rev. C. A. McGirt of Salisbury on Homes, the Rev. A. G. McKee of Lenoir on Higher Education and Candidates, the Rev. S. A. Gates of Salisbury on Nominations, and Fred A. Long of Lenoir on Presbytery's Council.

In connection with the report of the committee on Higher Education and Candidates, the Rev. Chester Alexander of the First Presbyterian Church of Burlington spoke in the interest of the $1,500,000 campaign for Queens College of Charlotte.

Senior High Fellowship youth leaders told of their experiences as members of the Youth Caravan which visited Presbyterian mission stations in Mexico last August.

Long Forgotten Falls Found To Be Back Of Most Low Back Trouble . . .

The most painful cases with which the Doctor of Chiropractic must deal with are the so-called low back cases. These people really suffer because there is no respite from the constant, nagging ache that seems to hold the bottom of their spines in an unrelenting vise.

Too often, these unfortunate people are told that their back trouble stems from many conditions, such as: upset kidney function, slipped disc, female trouble, soft mattresses, and weak muscles. But, the real cause invariably will be found to be pressure on the spinal nerves, and until this nerve pressure is removed, the gnawing pain of low back trouble will persist.

Thousands of case histories prove that Chiropractic adjustments will correct low back trouble in a minimum length of time, without pain to the patient.

It is possible that some longforgotten fall, slip or stumble may have injured your spine and that all your suffering can be attributed to a vertebral mis-alignment.

We invite you to visit the office of Dr. Howard J. Baker, of Mooresville, for a consultation about your health problem.

C. Reid Sherrill Makes Good Record In Naval School

Mr. and Mrs. Chal L. Sherrill of West McNeely avenue have received a very complimentary letter from Commanding Officer C. L. Moore, Jr., concerning the excellent record made by their son, C. Reid Sherrill, while stationed at the U. S. Naval Air Training Center at Jacksonville, Fla.

The letter, self-explanatory, follows:

"It is a pleasure to inform you that on October 5, 1957, your son, C. Reid Sherrill, AOTAN, graduated from the Aviation Ordanceman School (Class A), Turrets Course, Class 5729, with top scholastic honors.

"Reid's accomplishment should be a source of pride to you, for the course included many difficult phases of instruction such as: publications, electricity, small arms, machine guns, aircraft munitions, aircraft turrets, operational equipment and problems. As a result of his excellent performance here, he has gained knowledge that will aid him in his future Naval career.

"He has been a credit to this school, and it was a pleasure to have had him on board."

Charlotte Salesman Stricken Near Here

Andrew Haymore Wall, 60, of Charlotte, a salesman for the Charlotte Fish and Oyster Company, died suddenly of a heart attack near here Tuesday morning.

He suffered the attack while driving northward on Highway 21, near the Shepherd School, and was pronounced dead on arrival at the Lowrance Hospital in Mooresville. Coroner Marvin Raymer, who investigated the death, said that Mr. Wall called on Paul B. Harwell, head of the meat department at Teeter's Supermarket in Mooresville, at the Harwell home on Mooresville, route 2, at 7:10 a. m. While there he complained of feeling bad and told Mr. Harwell that he planned to see a physician in Statesville if he didn't start feeling better.

Frank Brawley found Mr. Wall slumped over the steering wheel of his car when he ran over to the car after seeing it leave the right hand side of the highway and go some 25 yards into a field.

There was no evidence of foul play, and Coroner Raymer said that an inquest would not be necessary.

Mr. 4% introduces . . .

A new guaranteed low cost whole life plan

the $25,000 SENIOR SPECIAL

designed for the MAN with the "BIG NEED"

The $25,000 Senior Special gives a "quantity discount" to the man who buys a substantial amount of life insurance at one time. Issued in amounts from $25,000 to $500,000, the Senior Special provides permanent insurance protection at the lowest cost. In fact, the insured gets up to 25% more protection than he would receive in similar type plans where the cost is not guaranteed.

Though a Special plan, the $25,000 Senior can be issued rated for occupational and physical impairments.

Again, Mr. 4% has taken a giant stride to fill the needs of insurance conscious America . . . introducing the $25,000 Senior Special.

Mooresville Native Passes In Northwest

Lum Raymer, 68-year-old resident of Marysville, Wash., native of Mooresville, died in Colfax, Wash., October 13, while he and his wife were visiting in the home of his cousin, A. L. Closninger. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Burial was in Marysville, Wash.

Born in Mooresville, Mr. Raymer lived in Wenatchee, Wash., for several years, moving to Marysville in 1954. He was a retired yardmaster for the Great Northern railroad. His affiliations included the Methodist church and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Survivors, in addition to the widow, include: one son, two daughters, three brothers, and four grandchildren.

County Tax Collector Will Be Here Oct. 24

The representative will have the 1957 tax books for Barringer, Coldie Creek, and Davidson Townships.

Bill Harris, Sylvia Brawley, and Miss Stirewalt, sponsor, Much time has been spent in planning this campaign, and we wish Franny all the luck possible.

The MHS Band journeyed to Durham Saturday to participate in the Duke Band Day. It was in impressive moment when at the game's half time 48 high school bands en masse marched on the gridiron and played without missing a beat.

The flu has reared its ugly head on the campus of MHS. Tuesday the list of absentees had risen to 81 out of an enrollment of 620. Fourteen members of the Varsity football squad, 8 of whom play first string ball, are suffering the ills of this epidemic. Students, take care of yourself. Get plenty of sleep and stay away from anyone who even shows signs of having this monster.

Moans and groans have marked the arrival of annual photo proofs and report cards. Why can't things turn out the way we have hoped?

Have you noticed? Peggy Maddrey and Joan Malcolm have been floating on a cloud this week. Can this possibly be because Dennis Porch (Troutman High) and Bobby Shuemaker took them to the Ice Capades Saturday night?

What's this sad news we hear about Doris and James? Last week they were having a gala time impersonating honeymooners and now they aren't even going steady.

We have two mystery personalities for you readers today. Even thought their identities won't be revealed until next week, test your skill now in naming these students.

Miss "Five Foot Two, Eyes of Blue" is one of the happiest, peppiest, girls to be found anywhere around MHS. This brown-haired senior, with a big flair for dancing, has a low pitched voice and simply adores chicken and a boy. D. M. Who is she?

Mr. X has that bewitching kind of eyes a girl can't forget. This brown-haired senior, nicknamed Bull, likes to eat Broccoli (of all things) and his hobby is playing sports. One might say that this 180-lb., 5'11" hunk of man is cut out to be a coach and fight you pre because his ambition is to coach football at Duke. Who is he?

As one bee said to another, "It's time to buzz on out," so until another week we say goodbye.

Hallowe'en Carnival Planned Friday By Mt. Mourne P.T.A.

The Parent-Teachers Association of Mount Mourne School will hold its annual Halloween carnival tomorrow (Friday) night beginning at 6 o'clock, it was announced this week.

The activities will include bingo, fishing, grab bags for children, country store and other games and contests.

There will also be plenty of food for the visitors.

The McCall Chair Company of Cornelius has donated a chair which will be given away as a door prize. Several Mooresville merchants have also donated articles which will be used as door prizes.

The highlight of the evening will be the crowning of the King and Queen from a field of 18 candidates. The two winners will receive 17 jewel wrist watches as first prizes while the runners-ups will each receive a camera.

All school patrons are invited to attend the carnival and bring their entire families.

BY RUFE NEAS

Sinatra Went All Out In Filming Life Story Of Famous Cafe Comic . . . It was Frank Sinatra himself who bought the film rights to the best-selling Art Cohn book "The Joker Is Wild"; it was Sinatra who set the VistaVision production, in which he stars as Joe E. Lewis, in motion; and it was Sinatra who apparently had more fun than anyone in the entire company in making the picture. It's a matter of record, in fact, that cafe comic Lewis, himself a man whose love of life is almost legendary, told Frank: "Boy, you had more fun making the story of my life than I had living it."

Never, in his entire career, so completely immersed in a property as in the gripping, almost fantastic true story of Lewis' climb back to fame after a gangland assault had finished his singing career, Sinatra nevertheless never stopped clowning from the moment he stepped onto the set until the day the picture was in the can. The film is titled, as was the book, "The Joker Is Wild."

His pranks took many directions. Tired of taking direction from Charles Vidor one day, he put Vidor, one of Hollywood's finest, in his place before the camera and assumed Vidor's job of directing.

Placing him in a taxi, next to Jeanne Crain, who stars with Frank along with Mitzi Gaynor and Eddie Albert, Sinatra told Vidor: "Now in this scene you're kind and sympathetic. I know that'll be a little hard for you, but try."

Or, doing a scene with featured player Jackie Coogan, he addressed Vidor: "Where'd you get this actor, Charlie? Is it too late to replace him?" The prank was funny only because everyone was aware of the great respect in which Sinatra holds Coogan. Not only has Jackie spent forty of his fifty-two years in the movies, but it was Coogan's himself who chose him for the role, that of Swifty Morgan, Runyonesque character beloved of show folk everywhere.

Only one time were the tables turned on Frank. He and Vidor owns a piece of the picture, as they team it in Hollywood, and the joking along proprietary lines was endless. Once, following the shooting of a particularly difficult scene, Vidor said: "That one you paid for, Frank. Now let's do it again, on my money, and better!"

When the picture was completed and Sinatra had viewed the final print, he uttered a typical Sinatra tribute. "Boys," he said, "We've got a gasser. The Most. If the people don't like me in this, I'm through."

Apparently, Frank needn't worry. His performance has already been hailed as an acting, singing and clowning triumph, and the film itself as one of the year's outstanding dramas.

DID YOU KNOW? It's "Colonel Elvis Presley" now, suh! Since completing "Jailhouse Rock", Presley has been made an honorary Colonel of the State of Louisiana. Until now, his manager, Col. Tom Parker, has been the only "titled" member of his organization.

Yo-Yo Contest Winners Named

Three winners in the city yo-yo contest were named last week and they will take part in the state competition to be held in Salisbury on November 16, it was announced today.

Billy Watson was named champion among the boys and Jimmy Torrence was declared runner-up.

In the girls' division, Cathy Morris won first place with Gail Dozier second. Cathy was second in the state girls' division competition last year.

David Works was declared winner among the boys not participating in the contest. He placed third in the state contest last year after winning first prize in the local contest.

John Kennedy won runner-up honors among the Negro boys this year.

Rowan Wins First Place In State 4-H Livestock Contest

Eddie Teeter, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. (Bill) Teeter of route 1, Mooresville, is a member of the Rowan county team which won first place in the 4-H Livestock Judging Contest at the North Carolina State Fair in Raleigh last Friday.

Other members of the team are Frank and John Coble, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Greer Coble of Mount Ulla, and Murray Corriher, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Corriher of route 1, China Grove.

Halifax county was second in the contest, Edgecombe was third, and Haywood was fourth.

The Rowan team and coach will participate in the national contest at the International Livestock Show at Chicago the latter part of November.

The trip to Chicago will be sponsored by Colonial stores.

The boys were accompanied to the competition in Raleigh by Ianley Corriher, assistant farm agent.

Youth Fellowship Seeking Clothing

Instead of asking for the regular "trick or treat" handouts on Hallowe'en night, the members of the Senior High Fellowship of the Prospect Presbyterian Church will seek donations of old clothing and used Christmas cards for the less fortunate people of Mexico.

The members of the Fellowship became aware of the acute need in Mexico recently when one of their members, Lavette Teeter, returned from a trip to the mission fields. Young Teeter was a member of a Youth Caravan which visited the country during the past summer.

All persons, who have clothing or used Christmas cards which they wish to give to the cause, are requested to call Mrs. Margaret Stutts at NOrth 3-4161 or NOrth 3-5441, and the articles will be picked up.

Coddle Creek News Briefs

MRS. JAMES F. GOODMAN

—In promoting the Spiritual Life program, special emphasis was made Sunday morning at Coddle Creek ARP Church with remarks by Mr. Fred Dickson concerning the family altar while Donald Kistler spoke on the importance of the mid-week prayer service.

—A District YPCN meeting was held Sunday afternoon at Coddle Creek Church.

Wayne Dickson, local president, presided over the program. Mr. C. A. Graham sang a solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. K. E. Johnston.

The guest speaker, Rev. Paul Conrad, pastor of Concordia Lutheran Church, used "The Golden Rule" as a topic for discussion.

Miss Dean Brown of Huntersville presided over the business.

The Mooresville group won the attendance banner and the achievement cup was awarded the Huntersville organization.

The Mooresville YPCU extended an invitation for the January district meeting to be held at the Mooresville ARP Church.

Unions represented were Gilead and Huntersville; delegations were also present from the Concord ARP Church where a YPCU has recently been organized and from Kannapolis ARP Church where a union will be organized in the near future.

—Representing Coddle Creek at the district YPCU Study Meeting held Tuesday night at Huntersville ARP Church were Rev. W. A. Kennedy, Mrs. Fidel Goodnight, Miss Alice Deal, Miss Linda Corriher, and Billy Collins.

—Eighteen persons were present Sunday night at Coddle Creek for the mission study review, "Missions: U. S. A.", presented by Mrs. T. Clyde Brown of Charlotte, president of the Woman's Synodical Union.

—Miss Lillian Graham entertained with a Hallowe'en party Saturday afternoon in the basement of the Coddle Creek educational building for teachers and pupils of the Children's Department of the Sabbath School.

Autumn leaves, berries, pumpkins, cats, and witches were used in decorating.

Various indoor and outdoor games were played.

Each child's place at the refreshment table was marked with a favor of a clown made of an apple and candies.

Refreshments consisting of juice, nuts, Hallowe'en candies, and decorated cookies were served to Ann and Lynn McCorkle, Dianne and George Locke Sumrow, Bill and Tommy Patterson, Alan Goodman, "Al" and Donnie Kennedy, Stevie Myers, Pat and Clarence Blackwelder, Jean and Dean Patterson, Christine Patterson, Pat, Barbara, Judy, and Kenny Brotherton, Ralph, Alice, and Rachel Deal, Mrs. Minnie Perry, Miss Eva Patterson, Mrs. J. D. McCorkle, Mrs. J. F. Goodman, and Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Kennedy.

Churches Plan Training School

Beginning on Monday evening, October 28, and continuing each evening through Friday, November 1, a group Sunday School training school for the Baptist churches in this area will be held at the Southside Baptist Church.

Participating churches will be Southside, First Baptist, Berea, Cascade Mission and Community Baptist Church.

Classes will be taught for each group of pupils as well as for officers and teachers, and the nursery will be open each evening to care for the smaller children, so that whole families will be able to attend.

Classes will convene at 7 p. m. each evening and dismiss at 8:30.

Books and teachers are as follows:

The Six Point Record System — Tate Cruse.

Extension Department: Lifting Through Love — Russell Hancock.

Adults: Understanding Adults—Rev. Robert Spry.

Young People: Young People in Sunday School — Rev. D. R. Kerley.

Intermediates: Effective Work With Intermediates — Mrs. George Henderson.

Juniors: How to Work With Juniors — Mrs. D. R. Kerley.

Primary: Primary Sunday School Work — Mrs. Bruce Alexander.

Beginner: Beginner Sunday School Work — Mrs. Guy Hinson.

Nursery: Nursery Department of the Sunday School — Mrs. Guy Bowles.

The Cradle Roll Department of the Sunday School — Mrs. Thomas Dishman.

Intermediate Pupils: Blueprint for Tomorrow — James Levan.

Junior Pupils: My Family and I —Mrs. Paul Kennerly.

Nursery for Small Children — Mrs. Ada Cruse and Miss Kaye Bowles.

Matheson Will Ruling Upheld

Mrs. Beaulas T. Matheson, widow of W. L. Matheson, late of Mooresville, married her husband too late to share in the $123,000 remaining in his brother's estate, according to a State Supreme Court ruling.

The State Supreme Court's ruling, handed down last week, upheld an earlier decision by Judge Susie Sharp in the Mecklenburg Superior Court.

In 1934, Dr. James P. Matheson of Charlotte willed 12/72nd of his estate in trust to his brother, W. L. Matheson of Mooresville, and Matheson's wife. But Beulah T. Matheson was not Matheson's wife at the time the will was made.

W. L. Matheson's first wife, married to him when the will was made, died in 1948. He married his second wife in 1951.

The court ruled that since Beaulah T. Matheson was not the "wife" alluded to when the will was made in 1934, she could not share in its proceeds.

Dr. Matheson was killed in an automobile accident in 1937. When W. L. Matheson died in 1956, the present Mrs. Matheson brought suit to determine her rights under the 1937 will.

As a result of the court's decision, the $123,000 will be divided among nine nieces and nephews of Dr. Matheson.

TROUTMAN HI SCHOOL NEWS

By Aurealia Mills

Although the parade was called off Thursday night because of rain, the Homecoming festivities was a distinct success. The parade was Friday night at 6 o'clock, consisting of the band, cheerleaders, Queen candidates and led by Wayne Thompson on his horse, Shirley.

The Homecoming game began at 8 o'clock though Mr. Dulin doesn't call it a game since we were handed a 32-0 defeat by Granite Falls. At the half-time out of the thirteen beautiful candidates Miss Jane Collins, escorted by Andy Vance was crowned Homecoming Queen by the co-captains of the football team, Joe White and Bucky Edwards. Jane, who represented the Beta Club, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Collins of route 2, Mooresville.

After the game a sock hop was held in the auditorium honoring the class of '54. It seemed as if everyone had a good time since it was the first school dance of the year.

Miss Cora Martin, senior class sponsor, reports the Senior Magazine Sale was a huge success. They reached their $1,500, collecting the sum of $1,544. Barbara Smith was the high salesman, selling more magazines than anyone else. They would like to thank everyone who subscribed to a magazine. The juniors ask if anyone else wants a magazine to wait until next year, since this is an annual project.

For everyone who wasn't camera shy individual pictures were taken Monday. Did you smile? Well you will see in three weeks. Group pictures will be taken Tuesday, October 29.

Good Deed Turns Into Trouble

A Bronx man tried to do a good deed — and found himself in a pack of trouble.

Alexander Vasquez, 34, of 943 St. John's avenue, Bronx, was booked for felonious assault, robbery and violation of the Sullivan Law, all because he tried to hold open a subway door to permit a passenger to catch a train.

It happened this way, according to police:

About 2 a. m. Vasquez had just entered a subway car at the Willoughby-Jay street IND station in Brooklyn when he placed his back against the door to prevent it from shutting.

"Get away from there," ordered Transit Ptl. Manuel Starr, who was on duty nearby.

When Vasquez refused, Starr tried to pull him away from the door.

Vasquez then hauled off and knocked Starr to the platform with a blow to the jaw. He then grabbed the officer's gun and fired one shot, which fortunately missed. Starr jumped up, retrieved his revolver and subdued Vasquez.

At the Poplar street station, the suspect was booked, as he expected, for assault.

But he was puzzled when he also was charged with robbery and violation of the Sullivan Law in connection with the gun — considering the length of time he had the weapon in his possession.

Foursquare Church Welcomes Pastors

The members of the Foursquare Gospel Church on Parker avenue welcomed their new pastors, the Rev. and Mrs. George J. Lee, for their first services last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee came here from Dayton, Tenn., where they spent three years in pastoral work.

Mr. Lee is a graduate of Life Bible College in Los Angeles, Calif., and both he and his wife are graduates of the Garr School of Theology in Charlotte.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee and their two children — George, Jr., 13, and Hanna Ruth, 11 — are making their home at the church parsonage, 502 Parker street.

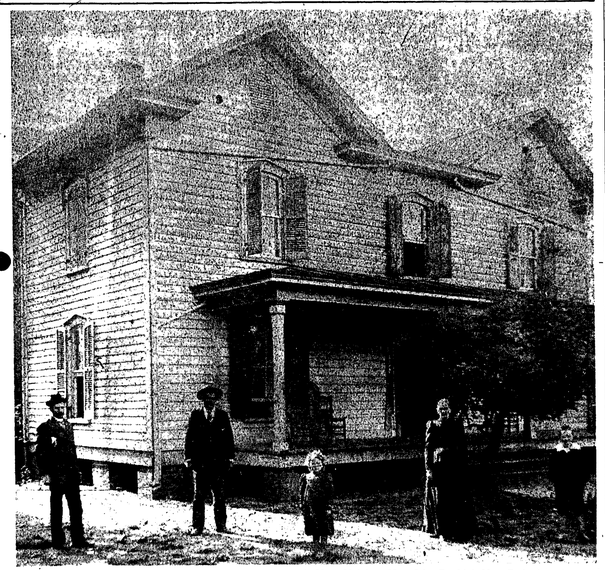
COMMUNITY MEMORIES



These very old pictures always bring up an argument among the oldtimers around town. This one will be no exception. From the best sources of information we can gather, the picture was made in 1895. It is the home and boarding house of the late C. A. Johnston. As the years went by It was replaced with a bring building that became the Johnston House or hotel. This house, as did the brick building later, stood on Main street about where the old theater building, DeLux Barber Shop, and Humphrey Jewelry now stand. Seen in the picture, left to right, are W. M. Neel, W. C. Johnston, Sr., Mary Melchor (Mrs. John Rankin), Mrs. C. A. Johnston, and Harry Melchor, Sr. Mr. Neel is the father of Mrs. Clayton Davidson and the grandfather of attorney Bill Neel, Mr. Johnston is the father of Bill and Con Johnston. Mr. Melchor is the father of Don, Harry, Jr., and other brothers and sisters of theirs here and elsewhere. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Johnston are grandparents of Con and Bill. oNte that when this picture was made, 62 years ago, houses were not screened.

James Robinson, Catawba Farmer, Passes Thursday

James Albert Robinson, 77, well-known Catawba county farmer, died at his home in the Sherrill's Ford community at 9 o'clock Thursday evening. He had been in failiig health for several years and seriously ill three days.

Born and reared in Catawba county, Mr. Robinson was a son of the late James A. and Sarah Crawford Robinson.

Mr. Robinson's wife, Mrs. Emma Sherrill Robinson, died several years ago.

Survivors include: two sons James Nelson Robinson of Sherrill's Ford and Robert Field Robinson of Terrell; and one brother, Lucius D. Robinson of Sherrill's Ford. Six grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were held at the Rehobeth Methodist Church at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Albert Gordon, Jr., assisted by a former pastor, the Rev. Van Harrison of Newton. Burial was in the family plot in the church cemetery.

Church Of God Will Sponsor Barbecue

The Mooresville Church of God, located at 514 Smith street, will sponsor a barbecue on Friday, October 25, beginning at 10 a. m., and continuing until all of the barbecue is sold. Plates will be $1 each, and these will be delivered if requested. The patronage of the public will be greatly appreciated.

Presbyterian Men Attend Breakfast

Men of the Second Presbyterian Church, 67 strong, ate country ham, eggs, grits, and gravy Sunday morning.

It was the organization's regular quarterly breakfast meeting, and was held in the dining room of the church's Fellowship Building.

They also heard interesting reports concerning the recent Miami, Fla., convention of the Men of the Southern Presbyterian Church. This convention was held October 10-13, and was attended by approximately 10,000 men.

Speaking here Sunday morning at the breakfast meeting of the Men of the Second Presbyterian Church were the pastor, the Rev. Raymond A. Horn, and three laymen: L. Young White, R. Giles Lyle, and Howard Vanderford.

Each gave his impressions of the convention and when all four had finished speaking the audience had a pretty good conception of the four-day meeting.

FROM MOUNTAINS TO SEA

Fall Is 'Brilliant' Time In N. C.

Autumn's brilliance touches every section of North Carolina vacationlands during October.

Across the Great Smokies and Blue Ridge Mountains — where the highest peaks in Eastern America tower up to well above mile-high elevations — every highway gives you a front row, center, seat at one of the greatest autumn foliage shows in America. As you drive from one altitude to another there is endless variety in the combinations of crimson, gold and bronze which mingle with the dark evergreens. The smoky blue which characterizes the region hangs like a filmy curtain between the nearby hills and those in the distance.

Down on the North Carolina coast where Wilbur and Orville Wright chose autumn as the time to build the world's first powered aircraft, autumn fishing is something special. By mid-September and well through November, the big bronze-backed channel bass come into the surf from Kitty Hawk to Cape Hatteras, and south to the beaches near Wilmington and Southport.

Wild ducks and Canada geese wheel in the skies over the marshlands around Currituck Sound and Lake Mattamuskeet, and by the opening of the waterfowl season on November 7 lure hunters from many states.

In the Sandhills, where Southern Pines and Pinehurst are famed winter resorts for golf and riding, all accommodations, golf courses, shops and stables are open by early October. The two resorts have seven 18-hole golf courses within a radius of five miles, and there is foxhunting, pleasure riding, and a round of informal horse shows and gymkhanas.

October is the month of North Carolina's big State Fair at Raleigh, to be held October 15-19 this year. Heart of the fairgrounds on U. S. 1 near the Capital City is the State Fair Arena, one of America's most striking contemporary buildings.

A dozen other fairs invite October visitors, and at Chapel Hill, Morehead Planetarium's October 22-November 25 show is appropriately titled "Harvest of the Skies."

October 15 marked the opening of the big game season, with bear and deer hunting enjoyed in coastal and mountain forests. Bow and arrow hunters began hunting on October 6. Wild boar are hunted in the Western North Carolina mountains near Robbinsville.

Across Eastern North Carolina and the Piedmont you can stop in at dozens of tobacco warehouses to hear the chant of the auctioneer as he offers the golden weed to buyers from the world's largest tobacco companies. At Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Reidsville and Durham you can take a free guided tour of the factories where those companies manufacture cigarettes.

Recreational areas for camping, picnicking and hiking remain open in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, along the Blue Ridge Parkway, in the Cape Hatteras National Seashore and in the Nationa lForests through the autumn color season. So do special attractions like the Parkway Craft Center and Minerals Museum on the Parkway, and the Pioneer Museum and Homestead at the North Carolina entrance to the Great Smokies Park.

Privately operated scenic attractions, as well as inns, motor courts, and guest homes, are open for autumn visitors. This year, travelers have a wider choice of accommodations than ever before. New attractions include Tweetsie, the narrow-gauge scenic railroad near Blowing Rock; the Brinegar Cabin pioneer home on the Blue Ridge Parkway, and new bridges and ferries to the Outer Banks.

As the season begins in the Sandhills, Pinehurst will be host to the 6th annual North and South Invitation Seniors Golf Championship October 21-26. Southern Pines' annual Golf Carrousel is November 21-24. Formal foxhunts offer Thanksgiving Day fun for participants and spectators at Tryon, Sedgefield and Southern Pines — they're a field day for photographers.

First Presbyterian Church

EVERETT P. MOYE
Minister

Z. V. TURLINGTON
Clerk of Session

This church was organized in November of 1875 with 19 members, all of whom came from the Prospect Presbyterian Church. This was the first church of any denomination to be organized in the town which at that time numbered about 25 families. In the fall of 1876, the congregation erected its first house of worship on the site now occupied by the First Baptist Church. In 1899, a new church was built on the present site. By 1908, a second church was organized by the First Presbyterian Church and in 1910 became the Second Presbyterian Church with its own building. Continued growth of the First Church demanded larger quarters and a manse for the pastor. Work on these two plus a Sunday School department, began in 1922 and by 1924 all three were in use.

Attend the Church of Your Choice Regularly

Realizing the responsibility of Mooresville Mills and Cascade Weaving Co. employees to their churches, Burlington Industries is happy to present this series of features on the churches of Mooresville. Without strong churches, "our way of life" would not long survive. We urge all our employees, as well as other citizens of the Mooresville community, to attend the church of individual choice, and to support this church faithfully. Let's make Mooresville a town "where the family goes to church!"

Wrong Statute, Wrong Judge, Wrong Decision

From where we sit, nothing about the trial of Frank K. Sims, Mecklenburg county ABC chairman, was right or just.

Sims, you will remember, is the fellow who rented a room in the Sir Walter Hotel in Raleigh during the last legislature for storage of whisky which was distributed to legislators.

When Sims' illegal act was exposed, his only comment was that he "did it more for a joke than anything else."

When he was tried in Superior Court in Raleigh a couple of weeks ago, it appears he convinced the judge of the humor of the situation. At least, that's the conclusions we draw from the judge's decision.

First off, Judge W. H. S. Burgwyn decided that it wasn't so funny and imposed a $100 fine on Mr. Sims.

When Sims appealed the case to the Supreme Court, Judge Burgwyn changed his mind and decided to remit the fine. In the language of the layman, that meant Mr. Sims did not have to pay.

Commenting on the case, Judge Burgwyn said he did not believe that Mr. Sims rented the room "for any immoral purpose."

And that's one of the reasons we say nothing about the trial was right. Mr. Sims was tried under the wrong statute. Statute 72-37 makes it a misdemeanor for a person to engage a room for immoral purposes and this is the one used in Mr. Sims' case.

It is obvious even to an amateur lawyer that Mr. Sims should have been tried under statute 72-30 which makes it a misdemeanor to register or allow one's self to be registered under any other than his true name.

The maximum fine under this statute is $200. Mr. Sims' fine, which the judge later lifted, was only $100.

The statute does not say that upon conviction the court "may" impose a fine, it says "upon conviction (the defendant) shall be punished bya fine not exceeding $200.

Some years ago, Judge Burgwyn himself was arrested on a charge of driving drunk in Franklin, Va., after his car was in collision with a parked automobile. We recall that his case was handled up there by a very compassionate judge.

We have long thought that Judge Burgwyn himself has shown too much compassion in certain cases, the Sims case among them.

We do know that in the case of Mr. Sims, the wrong statute was used, the wrong judge heard the matter and the wrong decision was rendered.

We Don't Care To Shrug Off Insults

If there's anyone in the audience who needs further proof that American dollars sent abroad cannot buy friends, or even influence people in our favor, let him read what Mr. Nehru of India had to say the other day at a press conference in Tokyo.

Mr. Nehru deliberately insulted the U. S., several reporters said, "to show that financial aid would not alter his attitude."

His "attitude" was that there is no essential difference between Russian troops in Hungary and U. S. troops in Korea and Japan.

Mr. Nehru's observation fails to take into account the fact that U. S. troops are in Korea at the request of the United Nations and those in Japan are there at the request of the elected government.

At the time he made the statement, Mr. Nehru's finance minister was in Washington trying to borrow $600 million to be squandered on India's current economic program.

Ernie Hill of the Chicago Daily News Service said in a story from London, "So the United States can shrug off the insult and loan him the money or he will get it elsewhere."

We'd like to get the opinion of the Hungarian people on whether there is any "essential difference" between Russian troops in that country and U. S. troops in Korea and Japan.

And we'd also like to see Mr. Nehru "get it elsewhere" when it comes to money to be wasted in one of the richest countries in the world. We had no idea there was another sucker country in the world that would hand out money to a man who had just spit in its face.

We don't care to try to "shrug off" Mr. Nehru's insult. We'd rather shrug him and his whole country off.

A Word To Enlighten A Contemporary

In the course of our regular reading the other day, we came across an editorial in the Kannapolis Daily Independent that caused us to take a second look.

The writer was pointing out some of the things dug up by the Senate's Labor Investigating committee.

He was urging that some action be taken by the federal government to correct the abuses which have been receiving the full publicity treatment.

Dave Beck has disgraced the labor movement and should go to jail, the writer hinted. Jimmy Hoffa, Beck's heir apparent, isn't much better and should never be permitted to take over the Teamster union.

And then the author of that editorial made a curious statement.

He could not understand, he said, why Walter Ruether, president of the sprawling Auto Workers Union had not been brought before the committee.

He was also at a loss as to why McDonald of the steel workers had escaped investigation.

Here then is a word to enlighten a contemporary.

If you take a careful look at the last presidential election, you will note that the Teamsters, the steel workers and a few of the other unions supported the Eisenhower ticket.

Then examine the membership of the Labor Rackets committee. Notice that it is being run by the Democrats.

In our book, two plus two makes four. And in politics, you don't bite the hand that feeds you.even if you know it's dirty.

No union that backed the Democrats will be investigated. Unless, of course, the Republicans win control of congress next year.

Herman's Off Again

The south may be driven to form a third party for its own self-protection, so says Sen. Herman Talmadge of Georgia.

Like a lot of other southern folk, Herman is upset by the desegregation order of the Supreme Court.

Unlike a lot of other thoughtful southern leaders, Herman isn't using his head. He is attempting to appeal to prejudice. If he and some of the other Red Necks are successful, the south is surely lost.

Members of a third party would have little or no chance of wielding the power and influence as southern congressmen now have.

It's just another indication that Herman's off again to where, we doubt whether even he knows.

You Provide It

Tom Anderson, publisher of Farm and Ranch magazine, says, "In 1914, states and local governments spent 70 per cent of all money spent by governments. Now 70 per cent is spent by Washington bureaucrats."

But we notice that one thing remains the same. One hundred per cent of all this money still comes from "state and local people."

Although we don't make much money in the newspaper business, it does have its advantages. Sometimes we forget about these advantages until some one says something about them.

Such was the case last week. A young fellow called us right after the papers hit the streets.

"That was a mighty pretty girl you boys had posing for that series on hunting," he remarked. "And from past papers I've seen, you seem to have a monopoly on pretty girls."

Knowing young swains, we felt that all this chatter was leading up to something and it didn't take long to find out what. Before the conversation was two minutes old, he wanted to know if we could give him some specific information about a certain young lady.

It so happened that we could and did. We haven't had much experience at the business of playing cupid, but we'll keep you informed on the progress of this one.

Names is names clubbers will be interested to know that recently an interviewer in the Charlotte ESC office interviewed a claimant whose name was Arizona. Her home is on Georgia avenue and she was filing a claim against South Carolina.

Some of the boys were talking about making promises to someone to do this or that at certain times. On one or two occasions, one of the group said, he had found it difficult to keep some of his promises for various reasons.

Another fellow said he had found that it was useless to try to hold a person to anything he says while he is madly in love, drunk or running for office. That about summed it up, we thought.

Sometime back we were talking about how we never had any loafing time anymore what with all the odd jobs that keep cropping up around the house. Well, we have found out that a good many other fellows are in the same situation.

One of our acquaintances was saying the other day that laziness was not exactly a virtue. "But you'd be surprised at the amount of courage it takes to be a completely successful loafer," he declared.

We never thought about it exactly like that but the guy might have a point.

During the recent warm weather, we made some comments on the dress affected by the girls in their efforts to beat the heat. Although it may have sounded as if we didn't approve, we did enjoy the scenery.

Now it appears that the mode of dress was not entirely designed just to escape the heat, if these "advice-to-the-love lorn" columnists are correct in their advice.

In a recent column, one of these gals had a letter from a reader who complained of finding it difficult to meet any eligible young men in her community.

"The story that nice young men are hard to find is completely untrue," wrote the learned one. "Every city has many of them. The only reason you are still single," she continued, "is because you haven't exposed yourself in the right places."

Maybe our knowledge of anatohy is faulty, but if the girls exposed themselves much more they'd wind up in the pokey instead of the kitchen!

Generally speaking, we don't go in for comment in this column on International affairs. But now and then along comes a dispatch from a foreign land that should not be ignored. Such was the case the other day in a news story out of Iran and we still don't understand why it didn't get a bigger play in the papers. The story said simply that Iran has by official decree banned rock n' roll music. That's the kind of news from abroad that anyone can understand.

The new gunny sack look in women's clothing that Paris designers are trying to foist upon American womanhood this season brought comment and a pertinent question from the Shelby Daily Star the other day we thought worthy of passing on to you. Said the Star, "Just how far will a woman go to keep from wearing a girdle?" We wondered about that too.

Definitions: Middle age is that time of life when a man looks back and discovers that the mountain he's been climbing is only a molehill. Practical nurse—one who falls in love with a wealthy patient.

Things you probably didn't know either: that if it wasn't for being behind, some people would never be anything . . . philanthropy is a farmer planting watermelons along a highway . . . after hearing some political candidates speak we now know why Silent Cal was so popular . . . if you're suffering from low blood pressure, watching your wife trying to park the family car into a limited space should be good for you . . . you can't always recognize a married man, he may be a bachelor with a grouch . . . legally, there are just two ways to avoid paying alimony, you can either stay single or stay married . . .. a noted criminologist says that few men commit acts of violence after a hearty meal; this explains the longevity of after-dinner speakers.

A local playboy got roped into a conversation the other morning in which the wit and philosophy of Benjamin Franklin was being recalled. One of the group noted that Franklin once said "It is hard to make an empty bag stand up."

Thinking about this for a minute and recalling some of his recent dates, our hero replied, "Benny never had the job of getting a loaded bag into a taxi cab after a cocktail party, did he?"

And that's the last word.

'LOOK, LADY!'

OUR COMMUNITY IN OTHER YEARS

IN 1937—20 YEARS AGO

Death entered the home of the three maiden Cavin sisters at Troutman and claimed them within the brief space of four days. Influenza and complications seized the frail bodies of the old ladies, and after only a short period of sickness all were taken. On last Friday, March 12, Miss Ellen Cavin, aged 83, passed away. Her remains were interred at Perth ARP Church on Saturday afternoon. At 10 o'clock on Saturday night, Miss Addie Cavin, 79 years of age and the youngest of the sisters, passed away. Funeral and burial took place at Perth Monday afternoon. Monday night the oldest sister, Miss Anne Cavin, passed on. Funeral for her was held Tuesday afternoon at 3 p. m. at Perth church, all of the services conducted by their pastor, Rev. C. L. Hood.

Mr. J. M. Cavin, a brother, who is 77 years of age, whose home is near that of the three sisters who died, is desperately ill this Wednesday morning. All children of the late John and Nellie Hammons Cavin. The sisters lived on the old Cavin homestead. The land on which Perth Church stands was donated by Mr. and Mrs. John Cavin and their property surrounds that of the church.

Mr. Walter Weddington, who lived with the Cavin sisters, is also a victim of influenza, but was reported as being somewhat improved Wednesday morning.

Mr. C. W. Murff is now connected with Delk's He was formerly assistant manager of Raylass' and his place there has been taken by Mr. W. R. Adamson, who before coming here was with the Raylass store at Gastonia.

Mr. Seth Gabriel will open a soda shop in part of the building formerly occupied by Sloop's furniture store. The shop will be ready for business about April 3. The Stevens' electric shop will occupy the other half of the building.

The Moor beauty shop has been opened, with parlors over Goodman's drug store. The shop is owned by Mr. George Towar of Winston-Salem, and is being managed by Mrs. C. R. Johnson, who has recently come here from Greensboro.

About 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon Highway Patrolman J. B. Boyd was called over long distance from Landis, stating that a band of gypsies had stopped near Mill Bridge in Rowan county and had robbed one of the citizens of that vicinity, and that the gypsies were headed toward Mooresville. At 3:30 o'clock police headquarters stated the roving band had not been found, but the search was still going on and that all officers in various sections had been notified to be on the lookout for them.

The following announcements have been received in Mooresville: "Mrs. Julius Oelbermann requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her daughter, Grace Elizabeth to Doctor Chalmers Edgar Cornelius on Saturday the third of April at half after four o'clock. Church of Saint Martin-in-the-Fields, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia." Following the ceremony a reception will be held at the home. Dr. Cornelius is the son of Mrs. Etta Brantley Cornelius and the late E. Chalmers Cornelius, and was born and reared in this city. Miss Oelbermann has visited in Mooresville and has quite a large number of acquaintances and admirers here.

Misses Jane and Sallie Davidson who are teaching at Gastonia spent the past week end at their home here. They were accompanied by Miss Nell Norris of Gastonia. Mr. Owens Davidson who is now employed at the water works at Charlotte was also at home.

Miss Lillian Morrow, daughter of Mr. Clint Morrow and the late Mrs. Morrow, and Mr. Edgar B. Nantz were married last Saturday at the home of Mr. H. A. Holstead, with Mr. Holstead as Justice of the Peace officiating. Mr. Nantz is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Nantz. The young couple will make their home here.

Dr. Frank Wilson, Mr. Herbert Jones and Mr. Fred Hoss spent Sunday at Lookout Lake trying out the new outboard motor boat recently purchased by Dr. Wilson and Mr. John Matheson.

Miss Sarah Sherrill modeled for the Lucille shop of Charlotte at their annual spring fashion show which was given at the Myers Park woman's club Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week.

Mr. E. M. Mayhew, aged 74, familiarly known as "Bob," died at his home on Statesville avenue early Wednesday morning, after a long period of failing health. Funeral services were held this morning at 11 o'clock from McKendrees Chapel, conducted by Rev. W. A. Kale. Interment followed in the family plot in the church burying ground.

Mr. J. Roderick Beard, aged 42, cashier of the Bank of Cornelius, died at the Veterans' Hospital in Columbia. S. C., Tuesday afternoon. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 3:30 at the Huntersville ARP Church, with Rev. W. T. Simpson, pastor of the church officiating. Interment followed in the church cemetery.

Mr. F. D. Newman, who was injured in an automobile wreck a week or so ago, is recovering at the Lowrance Hospital, and expects to return to his home within a few days.

Mrs. C. L. Moore, well known and well loved resident of the Prospect community, died at her home early Tuesday morning.

China Grove Topples Blue Devils 6-0

By PHILIP PARKER
Tribune Sports Editor

Mooresville, in high spirts over the close game played with Kannapolis last week, continued to show their stuff defensively to hold a strong China Grove team time and time again Friday night.

It was not until late in the game that the Red Devils were able to penetrate the Blue Devil goal.

The Grovers showed power from the start as on the first play from scrimmage halfback Robbie Klutz circled right end for 20 yards and a first down on the Red Devil 40.

Two plays later, Johnny Overcash, running the option, was hit hard in the line and shaken loose from the ball with an alert Bill Brawley recovering for the Blue Devils on the 50.

Mooresville, being unable to pick up a first down, had to kick. The Grovers put the ball in play on their own 20 and from there drove down to the Mooresville 38 yard line, the drive highlighted by a 30 yard pass play from Overcash to Klutz. Here the Blue Devil defense got stiff and held for downs.

From here the Mooresville lads put on their best march of the evening driving to the China Grove 30. At this point Setzer elected to take to the air and was unable to get the ball off and was thrown for losses on two pass attempts. etzer's kick rolled dead on the Red Devil 10 yard line.

A hard hitting Blue Devil again knocked the ball loose from fullback Dickie Shaw on the 40, but Mooresville was unable to capitalize on this break and was forced to give the ball back to the Red Devils again.

Another drive by the Red Devils was stopped late in the first half when Adrain Cherry intercepted a China Grove pass on his own 10 and returned it to the Red Devil 45, but time ran out on the locals and the first half ended with neither team having a score.

After several fumbles in the third period, China Grove finally completed a touchdown drive in the final period.

China Grove took over on its 25 yard line after a Setzer, punt rolled dead. Dickie Shaw and Ronald Beaver each went for a first down. Overcash moved for another at the 46.

Shaw and Overcash then three times for a first down on the Mooresville 43 and Klutz carried to the 35. Shaw again plowed up the middle to the 15.

After being penalized to the 18 Overcash bit end David Abernathy with a pass at the nine. Shaw scooted off tackle to the four and Mooresville was penalized to the one for a personal foul.

Overcash sneaked over after Beaver was stopped on the one foot line. Beaver's kick was wide and the score read 6 to 0 with 4 minutes to play.

As the final minutes were ticking away the Blue Devils were trying desperately to get back in the game. Setzer was trying to complete a desperation long pass play when one of his tosses was intercepted by Don Eagle to kill any hopes for a Mooresville victory.

In the last seconds, the Grovers were on the one foot line knocking at the door when the final whistle sounded.

The lineup.

Albemarle Leads Loop, Blue Devils In Cellar

Coach Toby Webb's point a minute Bulldogs continue to lead the South Piedmont Conference with a record of seven straight wins. They have rolled over all competition thus far with devastating force, racking up a total of 317 points while limiting the opposition to 14 with the local Blue Devils accounting for seven and Lexington the other tally.

The Concord Spiders, yet to meet the champs, hold down the second spot with four wins without a defeat. These two teams will meet on the Concord gridiron November 1 to settle the title, that is if the Spiders get by China Grove tomorrow night.

China Grove still has a chance to cop the title by winning over the Spiders and having the Spiders defeat Albemarle which would make the race end up in a three way tie. Should all this happen, it would take a playoff to determine the title and the honor to face the winners of the North Piedmont winners in the playoff game.

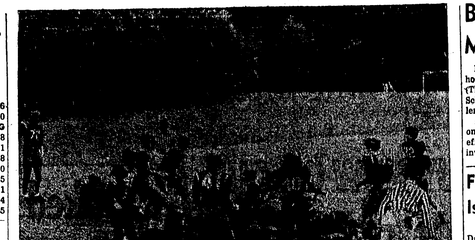
Kannapolis, Landis, Monroe, Winecoff and Mooresville wind up the standings in that order with neither of these teams having a chance to overtake the three top contenders.

Standings as of last week:

Team	W	L	T	Pct
Albemarle	5	0	0	1.000
Concord	4	0	0	1.000
China Grove	3	1	0	.750
Kannapolis	2	1	1	.625
Landis	2	2	1	.500
Monroe	2	3	0	.400
Winecoff	0	5	0	.000
Mooresville	0	6	0	.000

Mailmen Nip Japan's Dogs

Wakayama, Japan — The war of dogs vs. postmen has the mailmen ahead on this battlefront at the moment. Citing about 10,000 annual incidents of tactical defeat and wounding for the men, they have posted notice on street that mail will not be delivered to homes with unleashed dogs.



TOUCHDOWN—In the above photo, Lexington has just scored the first of six touchdowns they racked up against Barium Springs last Friday afternoon for a 41-7 victory over the Orphans.

Blue Devils Entertain Winecoff Here

Mooresville High's Blue Devils will take on Winecoff in a South Piedmont Conference game at the local high field tomorrow (Friday) night at 8 o'clock.

Both teams will be seeking their first conference win of the season. Mooresville will use this game to try to pull out of the celler, the locals having a 0 and 6 record compared to a 0 and 5 for Winecoff.

Winecoff, although a non-winner in the conference, has two wins over non-conference competition these being an 18 to 0 victory over Hartsell and a 35-0 shut out of Mt. Pleasant.

The Blue Devils, losers of all seven games thus far, will be out to break into the win column.

Coach Andy Miller will be counting heavily on the services of Jean Berry who was held out of the China Grove game because of an injury. With Berry returning to the line up, this will put the locals at top strength.

Winecoff also will be at full strength with halfback Richard Gray and quarterback Jerry Whitley returning as starters. Winecoff's other starters will be Harold Gwaltney and Jerry Wade at ends, Doug Brimes and Nelson Clark at tackles, Larry Barnes and Tim Truner at guards, Jerry Whitley at quarterback, Richard Gray and Ken Caliicutt at halfbacks and Pete Furr at Fullback.

Coach Miller's starting lineup will consist of Gabriel and Hunsucker at ends, Worthington and Ronald Hager at tackle, Berry and Bill Brawley at guards, Neill at center. Setzer at quarterback, Homer Brawley and Donnie Mayhew at halfbacks, and Bill Mayhew in the fullback slot.

Boosters Club Meets Tonight

Mooresville's Booster Club will holds its regular meeting tonight (Thursday) at the Junior High School at 7:30 o'clock, Johnny Miller, president, said today.

All members of the club and anyone wishing to join the club in its efforts to boost local sports, are invited to attend.

Former Moor Player Is Now With Giants

It was announced last week that Dave Jolly of Stony Point, former Mooresville Moor of the now disbanded North State League and currently with the Milwaukee Braves, has been sold outright to the San Francisco bound Giants.

General Manager John Quinn said the transaction that sent Jolly to San Francisco was a straight sale and no waivers were involved.

Jolly was a teammate of the Hoyt Wilhelm, Tommy McCall and Jolly combination that won the North State League pennant for Mooresville in 1948.

Duke-State Game Set For Television

For all you Atlantic Conference football fans the Duke-State game will be televised on October 26. This shapes up to be the game of the week as both teams are undefeated thus far and State will be seeking its first win over Duke in so long that you would have to go back to another generation for the last State win.

Formal announcement was made Monday by Atlantic Coast Conference Commissioner James Weaver.

SOUTH PIEDMONT ROUNDUP

BY PHILIP PARKER

Last week in our predictions we picked Mooresville to beat China Grove. We did this on the improvement shown by the last few games. The score was 6 to 0 against Mooresville as you all know by now. Our prediction was wrong but our faith in the Mooresville team will never be as high as it is now.

The Blue Devils played their best game of the year and the game could have gone to Mooresville as well as to China Grove. Our boys were magnificent on defense and with just a little improvement in the offense they will be a team to reckon with.

Even though Mooresville lost, they left their mark on the Red Devils. They found that the locals were hard to move against and Eddie Deaton did a good job of replacing Jean Berry who was held out this week because of a shoulder injury.

Now to get back to the business at hand. Of the five predictions made last week, we hit 3 missed one and had one tie to bring our standings for the year to right 3 wrong and one tie to give us a percentage of .786 which is still pretty good for an amateur.

To run down the action of the past week we will begin with the slaughter the Albemarle Bulldogs Hung on Thomasville, Albemarle is noted as the point a minute team and they did just that with a 60 to 0 victory over hapless Thomasville this past Friday night.

Most everyone in the Bulldog backfield got in the toughdown parade with Graham Harwood, Roger Whitley and Tom McSwain, the main cogs in the rout. Harwood scored twice and passed for four more touchdowns. Three of his scoring tosses were to McSwain.

Whitley tallied three times with runs of 4, 12 and 2 yards. James Norton and Sherrill Williams also scored in the victory.

Myers Park, looking nothing like the best team in the state the first half, rallied to full power in the second half to overcome the Monroe Rebels 41-12. Monroe threw a big scare into the Mustangs before bowing out.

Myers Park scored in the first three minutes after an exchange of fumbles, Lynwood Mallard smashed away for ten and four yard clips to score. Hal Beaver converted to make it 7 to 0. Myers Park, showing no form at all, had to punt from their own 42, but guard Farrel Richardson broke through to block Ray Farris's punt and scramble to within two yards of pay dirt. On the next play, Alton Russell scored. Johnny Hybarger's extra point was wide.

The Mustangs took the next kickoff and marched to the Rebel eight yard line. There they tried a pitch out but Russell was there to intercept it and ramble 92 yards to glory land and the Rebels led 12 to 7 at the half.

Then the dam busted. The winners went 63 yards in nine plays with the second half kick-off, Farris sneaking for the final yard, and from there the Mustangs regained their stride to score time and time again to turn the game into a 41-12 rout.

China Grove found the going hard against our local Blue Devils at China Grove this past week. Mooresville had a fired up defense and the Red Devils were not able to penetrate the Blue Devil goal until late in the game. Mooresville, hitting hard in the line, was able to shake the ball loose four times to stop most of the Red Devil scoring threats until the last four minutes of the game when they mustered power for their only score.

Jerry Setzer punted dead on the Grovers 23 yard line. From there the Red Devils drove 75 yards to their touchdown with quarterback Johnny Overcash sneaking over from the one foot line. The extra point was missed and the score ended 6 to 0 in the Grovers favor.

Kannapolis was the scene of the most interesting game of the week end as the Yellow Jackets held a highly favored Kannapolis team to a 0 and 0 tie.

Twice the Little Wonders drove close to the goal line only to be stopped by a stout Landis defense led by 245 pound Oscar Overcash who broke through time and time again to throw the Little Wonder ball carriers for losses. The scoreless tie was a big moral victory for a fast improving Landis team.

Winecoff played host to the Concord Spiders this past week and after leading 7 to 6 at the half, Winecoff fell to defeat as the Spiders gathered steam and scored three times in the last half to come out with a 26 to 7 victory.

For Concord, Bunny Green had a red hot evening, scoring three times. Tony McClamlock scored Concord's other touchdown and Bill Stilwell kicked two extra points. Richard Gray scored Winecoff's only touchdown.

This week's action in the South Piedmont will be the week of decision as the top teams in the conference will face the stiffest competition of the year and I believe the main test will be at Albemarle where the Bulldogs will take on the Harding High Rams of Charlotte.

This game is picked as the game of the week in the whole state, Albemarle with seven straight wins will be laying the chips on the line as they will probably be facing the stiffest competition of the year in the Rams. Harding has been beaten only by Myers Park and as the teams are rated one, two, three in the state, the Rams will be out to get back some of their glory of the past.

This will be the hardest game to pick and since the Bulldogs are undefeated and in this conference we will pick Albemarle in a close game.

The Monroe Rebels, licking their wounds from the Myers Park game, will go to Kannapolis to encounter the Kannapolis Little Wonders in what should also be another close contest.

Kannapolis, after being held by Landis, will be out to take it out on the Rebels, but this could be reversed just as easily, if Monroe plays the whole game as they did the first half of the Myers Park game. However, we will go along with the strength of the Kannapolis forward wall which has been hard to penetrate and give the nod to Kannapolis.

Winecoff comes to the local field this week and each will be seeking their first conference win although Winecoff has two wins to its credit over non-conference opponents.

Both teams have shown improvement over the past three games and it should be a good battle for the spectators as these two teams are rated about equal. Since we are rabid fans for our local Blue Devils we will pick Mooresville again to get their first win of the season.

Concord, undefeated thus far in conference play and losers only to Asheboro, will journey to China Grove this week trying to add another win before the big game with Albemarle the following week.

China Grove has improved with each game but the competition from the Spiders will be too much Concord will win by at least three touchdowns.

Landis will be host to the Spencer Railroaders in non-conference play and being boosted by the 0 to 0 tie with Kannapolis this past Friday, will be able to gain a win over Spencer.

China Grove Jayvees Edge Moors 13-6

In a postponed game played at the junior high field Monday night the China Grove Jayvee team defeated the Blue Devil Jayvees by a score of 13 to 6. It was a hard fought game with each team threatening to score several times.

On the first scrimmage play of the game the locals fumbled and the Grovers recovered on the Mooresville 41 and advanced the ball to the 14. The underdog Blue Devils tightened their defense and held for downs at the 10.

Mooresville being unable to pick up a first and ten had to punt with the Red Devils taking the kick and again driving downfield only to be stopped again by the hard charging Blue Devil forward wall.

Late in the second period the Blue Devils were driving goalward when a fumble on the China Grove 16 put a stopper to the drive. China Grove took over and preceded to run out the clock to make the first half scoreless.

Midway in the third period China Grove halfback Ronald Seamon scooted around his left end for 58 yards to the 17 yard line to set up the first Red Devil score with Seamon going the final yard for the tally. The extra point try was good to make the score 7 to 0.

On the second play of the final period Billy Parker broke across his left tackle, ran to the far sidelines and with three men in pursuit outran them all for a 58 yard touchdown play. This put the locals back in the ball game. The try for extra point by a pass was no good and early in the last quarter it was China Grove 7, Mooresville 6.

In the waning moments of the game Seamon again got loose and carried to the Mooresville 30. China Grove continued the march for the touchdown, with Seamon doing the final yard. The extra point try was no good to make the final score 13-6.

COLLEGE PROFESSORS—The only men to have received the Thomas Wolfe Memorial Award for fiction from the University of North Carolina, Roy Clifton Moose (left) and Dr. James Trammell Cox (right), now are on the English faculty of Florida State University. As a means of encouraging fledgling writers, they'd like to see at FSU a "little" literary magazine similar to the Carolina Quarterly Review of Literature and the Western Review, of Iowa, where they have served as editors. Cox is teaching creative writing. Moose's field of specialty is modern criticism.

ONE FROM MOORESVILLE

Winners Of Thomas Wolfe Memorial Award Teaching At Florida State

A chain of coincidences which began in the 1940's has brought together on the campus of Florida State University at Tallahassee, Fla., the only two men who have been awarded the Thomas Wolfe Memorial Award for fiction by the University of North Carolina.

They are Dr. James Trammell Cox and Roy Clifton Moose, who joined the faculty of the Florida State University's English Department this Fall. Both are productive writers. Each is working on a novel. Moose is from Mooresville, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie L. Moose of South Academy street.

And, as a means of encouraging creative writing on the campus, both would like to see a literary magazine at FSU similar to the Western Review of the University of Iowa, of which Cox was managing editor, and the Carolina Quarterly, Review of Literature, of which Moose was editor and one of the founders.

They agree that the greatest literary output of the present day is in the South, and that biggest problem facing Southern writers is the lack of outlets for their works.

And, both believe the so-called "little" magazines which have mushroomed on campuses over the nation since the war financed principally by the students themselves are the best outlets of all for beginning writers.

The Thomas Wolfe Memorial Award, established in 1939 soon after the death of the distinguished Carolinian, has been awarded only three times. Cox received it twice, in 1941 and in 1942, the year he graduated at Chapel Hill. Moose received the award in 1949, the year he received the A. B. degree from the university.

Strangest coincidence of all is that Dr. Francis Townsend, head of FSU's English department, selected the men without knowing they had received the Wolfe award. Neither of the writers knew the other. They met for the first time at Chapel Hill the past summer, and in the course of conversation found out they were both going to FSU.

Dr. Cox, a native of Lynchburg, Va., went to FSU from the University of Iowa, where he taught English. He also has been on the faculty of Clemson College. After attending Lynchburg College, Cox received the A. B. degree from the University of North Carolina. He also holds the M. F. A. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Iowa.

His published works include most recently a short story "This is Sedlacek Talking" in Perspective, Spring, 1957 and "Stephen Crane: Symbolic Naturalist," in Modern Fiction Studies, published the past summer.

After graduating at Chapel Hill, Moose went to Oxford University in England on a Rotary International Fellowship and received the B. A. degree with honors in 1953 and the M. A. degree in 1956. He is now working toward his doctorate from the University of North Carolina.

In addition to works of fiction and criticism published in the Carolina Quarterly and The Isis and Cherwell, magazines at Oxford, Moose has been drama critic for the Chapel Hill News Leader, feature writer for the Greensboro Daily News, Raleigh News and Observer and the Charlotte News, and literary columnist for the Daily Tar Heel of Chapel Hill.

Cox is working on a war novel, "The Traitor," begun at the University of Iowa, based on experiences with the Air Force in North Africa. Moose, who also served overseas with the Air Force, is writing a post-war novel which he describes as "an exploration of hate and dissension."

They believe that successful serious "little" magazines should include both the works of beginning writers and those who have "arrived," in their experience with such publications they have found established writers glad to contribute without compensation from time to time to encourage fledglings.

At both Iowa and North Carolina, the publications became largely self-liquidating, after having been started by an initial contributions from the Student legislature and other sources, they said.

Moose sees the predominant trend in present-day fiction to be a concern with style.

"There is some danger of sacrificing some of the more important aspects of fiction such as a strong story and characterization," he said.

Coal dumpings at Hampton Roads, Va. — America's greatest coal port — rose nearly 29 per cent in the first six months of 1957 to more than 31,000,000 tons. Virtually all coal shipped abroad passes through the port of Hampton Roads.

Keep pigs gaining in the summer by keeping them cool.

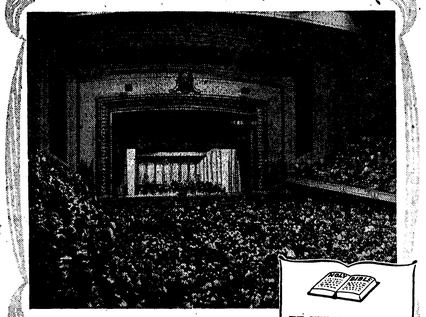
IN HARMONY



The house lights dimmed, the director raised his baton, and the music of Brahms flooded the auditorium. Suddenly I was lifted into a world of sheer beauty and harmony. When the last notes of the symphony died away spontaneous applause greeted the director and the musicians.

What a thrill it would be to play in a great orchestra, I thought. Each instrument must be perfectly in tune, but until they play together there can never be the harmony or the volume of a symphony.

That's the way it is with life. We may strive to find joy and beauty alone. But only when we tune our lives with our Creator do we discover the abundant life.

Then united with fellow Christians in the Church, with Jesus Christ the Leader, we discover beauty and harmony, not only in this life but for all eternity.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE PEOPLE SPEAK:

No Alarm Over Sputnik

Does Russian Sputnik Cause You Any Worry?

The launching of the Russian satellite, "Sputnik," may have created hysteria among American politicians, but it didn't disturb the calm of Mooresville folks, according to the roving reporter's survey last week.

After reading some of the comments of politicians, some demanding an investigation to determine why the Russians beat the U. S., the reporter (and she was a real good looker last week) got this question to four people here:

Does the Russian Sputnik cause you any worry?

The answers:

Ned Honeycutt, salesman, 134 East Stewart avenue: "No, it doesn't worry me any. I don't think it indicates that Russian scientists are any smarter than ours. It only indicates that they have spent more military money on that they spent more wisely. That is, they spent a lot of it on one project rather than on two or three. I saw in the papers recently where the Russians said they had sent one up last year that didn't work out. They said it was information from that first one that made the present one possible."

MRS. NED HONEYCUTT

Mrs. Ned Honeycutt, homemaker, 134 East Stewart avenue: "Why are we so concerned about it? I can't see that it has any value right now. It may have later on but I don't see how it can effect us."

Dr. Thomas Funk, osteopath, 328 Kelly street: "No, not a bit. No, I don't think it indicates their scientists are smarter than ours. We just let them get ahead of us because congress didn't do its duty. The president was not to blame, that belongs to someone else, the congress, I believe."

Q. P. Whitte, photographer, Lynchburg, Va.: "Not at all. I don't think it indicates that our scientists are behind. We are up to date and there's no great hurry to launch one. I can't see that it has any great scientific value although it is a scientific achievement."
